Instead of just telling you what to do and saying to do it, he explained what to do, how it works, and how to apply it.</li> <li>• Honestly, he just taught the class straight-up but was very supportive for students that were confused and asked for help. Very compassionate and effective teacher.</li> <li>• He is a really nice guy and you can tell he has passion for what he does.</li> <li>• The homeworks have been the most helpful, although they still do not relate to the exam questions very well at all.</li> </ul> |               |

The practice problems online look nothing like the exams, so the exams kind of feel like a shot in the dark every time. Packing one month of material into each exam is so overbearing, it does not allow for knowledge of the material to be tested well enough because it is so overbearing.</li> </ul> |               |

They have frequent quizzes and examinations, every 2-3 weeks, and almost weekly quizzes. This would be so helpful to test ones understanding and break up the grading a little. Also, they are given review/study packets that look very similar to the exams so that they are given at least a chance on the exams to pass. The teachers also guide them in understanding which sections are more important than others. Soroko is just overbearing and has expectations that are unpracticable for his students, providing little to no guidance on actually passing the course.</li> </ul> |            |

| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Dr. Soroko was Very patient and attentive, making sure that we understood fully the information. His teaching pace was not too slow nor too fast which was beneficial for me because I did not get overwhelmed.</li> <li>• His notes are very good and they really show what we need to know for the tests.</li> <li>• The most useful tool that I experienced in his class was the way he communicated effectively. Not only was the lectures clear and entertaining but he also showed an interest to help individual students, which helped me out tremendously.</li> <li>• Dr. Soroko is the goat. Dr. Soroko gives very helpful examples. I really appreciate that he writes out what to do step by step (putting it into words) because it helps clarify exactly what to do in order to solve a specific type of problem. This also helps me review how to solve something later on when I am studying. Sometimes (on rare occasion) he gives fun facts related to what we are learning in the course. I always thought this was great. He is a great professor and a nice person. I 100% will encourage my friends to try to take a class with him if they ever need to take calc II.</li> <li>• I enjoyed the number of times where Dr. Soroko would ask us to try some example problems within class, such that we're not just copying down lecture notes the entire time and then do the homework and that's it. And in doing these do-ourselves problems is also a way for Dr. Soroko to see where we are in understanding.</li> <li>• Do it yourself examples in class are helpful, i like when you go around and check answers in class</li> <li>• He makes calculus II quite interesting with his humor and various facts about it. He truly has a passion for the subject and it is apparent in his teaching methods.</li> <li>• He gave us homework and extra practice questions that was more challenging then the midterms, so I felt very confident in my ability to succeed while understanding the course material.</li> <li>• I can tell that he cares as he makes sure all the students understand his teachings.</li> </ul> |               |

| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• He goes too fast when we take notes. Any issues stem from this statement.</li> <li>• n/a</li> <li>• Perhaps some small quizzes on top of the exams. While this may increase workload for us and Dr. Soroko, this can be another effective method in understanding the material other than repeatedly doing problems that may not even be helpful for us.</li> <li>• Nothing, he did a perfect job.</li> <li>• None.</li> <li>• Sometimes when we learn new material, he doesn't include all the algebraic steps which confuses me sometimes as I accidentally think it is apart of the new material he is teaching so I don't recognize it.</li> </ul> |              |
